Mayor Becker's Investigator Claims To Have Found Another Questionable Act.

CITY TREASURER MUST EXPLAIN

Claimed He Has Placed City Money To His Own Account And Drawn The Interest On It For His Personal Benefit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28.—Another alleged discrepancy in the city's books was discovered by the expert accountant examining them. It is alleged that City Treasurer W. H. Graebner has twenty thousand dollars of the city's money deposited in his own name for which he is drawing interest.

Comptroller Boettcher claims this is illegal, and will report the matter to the common council at once. Whether or not there is anything irregular connected with the transfer of money from the city treasury to the treasurer's account remains to be seen.

The amount consists of deposits of money held as security to cover costs involved in various transactions such as applications for franchises and special privileges.

Whether any person or corporation applies for franchise or for special privilege a deposit of from one to two hundred dollars is required. A similar deposit of $100 is required when the application to plat property is filed with the city.

These amounts during Graebner's term of office and during the latter part of his predecessor's administration foot up to twenty thousand dollars.

This money Graebner deposited to his own account and draws 5 per cent interest for the same.

THIS IS PALMETTO STATE DAY AT FAIR

Jamestown. Streets Thronged with Residents of South Carolina—Appropriate Exercises.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Norfolk, Va., June 28.—It was not a great while after the exposition grounds opened this morning when the wide avenues and the main buildings were populated with men, women and children wearing badges and other insignia of the Palmetto state, and before noon these visitors were to be encountered at every turn—for it was South Carolina day. Governor Ansel and his staff, several companies of the South Carolina state militia, the Citadel academy cadets, and one of the best brass bands in the state were on hand to contribute to the success of the celebration. The number of visitors from South Carolina was large and they were joined in their festivities by a host of friends from Virginia and neighboring states. The formal exercises of the day were held in the exposition auditorium. Col. William B. Gonzales of Columbia presided, and the oration was delivered by Walter Hazard of Georgetown. The other speakers included Governor Swann of Virginia and President Tucker of the exposition. This afternoon there was a large reception in the Virginia building in honor of Governor Ansel and the other distinguished visitors from South Carolina. The Palmetto state has no building of its own at the exposition, but its products and resources are represented by comprehensive exhibits in almost every department of the big fair.

INSURANCE MATTER IS UNDER DEBATE

Senate as Committee of the Whole Listens to Verbal Arguments This Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 28.—The senate met at 10 o'clock for the purpose of hearing the discussion on the insurance bill. Speaker H. L. Blumenthal was invited to speak and began an argument in favor of the passage of the bill. He forcibly set forth the inequitable methods pursued by the various companies, and made an example of the Northwestern Mutual. He speedily discussed the defects of corporations' management and excessive expenditures of companies. He quoted many statements and figures showing the manner in which the policyholders' money was appropriated. He strongly urged the senate to concur in the assembly bills, favoring the valuation of policies. Attorney John M. Olin and Dr. W. A. Fricke will reply to his argument this afternoon in defense of the companies. The assembly killed over forty measures in a hurry this morning, and concurred in the senate resolution in favor of the income tax and the popular election of senators and the internal improvement of the state, and killed the resolution for a state referendum and separate county government for Milwaukee.

Head Bill-Poster for Nonesuch Bros. with His Assistants Traveled Seventy-five Miles Yesterday.

Led by Chief Contracting Agent Chas. Putnam and accompanied by Head Bill-Poster E. J. Smith, Chief of Small Bill Distributors G. E. King and General Privilege Man Geo. Simpson, Col. Nonesuch's No. 2 car swept through seventy-five miles of country to the east of the city as far as Elkhorn in an up-to-date automobile with banners streaming yesterday. In Elkhorn "Captain" Ed Smith was followed for several blocks by an admiring crowd of youngsters when they learned he was one of the famous Aurora Borealis troupe. "Captain" Simpson secured several promises of attendance at the celebration at the hotel in Elkhorn, where they had supper, and "Captain" King made friends with every small boy on the route by giving them free passes to the show. Taking it all in all, "Gen." Putnam was much pleased with the result of the work accomplished by his "flying squadron."

"Brigadier General" Jaekie, who has charge of the Spanish War Veterans' exhibit, is very anxious to have two hundred riders and horses, or men who have arms and equipment, to enlist under his banner at once. "Colonel" Nonesuch Watt is still anxious to hear from all who will take part in the parade or furnish teams and wagons. His offices are in the vacant store next the Gas Office, where he will be glad to see all possible exhibitors.

NEW YORK CITY CAN NOT BORROW MORE

Reached Limit Today When $29,000,000 Worth of Four Per Cent Bonds Were Offered for Sale.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 28.—New York city today reached the limit of its borrowing capacity, when Controller Metz offered for sale 4 per cent city bonds to the amount of $29,000,000. The money is to be used for improvements of various kinds, and for the first time in some years the bonds of New York city will bear interest coupons, for which variety of security there has been considerable demand since the last bond sale, which was unsuccessful. Today's offering is watched with deep interest in investment circles, as the manner in which it is taken up will furnish an accurate indication of the true condition of the bond market, as bankers recognize the fact that the first general demand from investors must come rather in bonds than in stocks. Some fear is expressed that this offering, coming just before the 1st of July, will affect the money market temporarily, but most bankers agree that the time was well selected, in that the city offerings will get the full benefit of the July disbursements and whatever purchasing power may result therefrom. There is no doubt among the bankers that the bonds will be taken, but the price at which they will sell is the chief point of interest. The bonds carry 4 per cent interest and cannot be sold under par, but as they are exempt from personal taxes they are generally considered a desirable investment for estates. It is thought that some of the holders of United States bonds which are to be retired before July 10 will reinvest their money in these securities.

William Easterly Says That State's Withness Failed to State Facts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Boise, Idaho, June 28.—William Easterly, who was one of the leaders of the great Cripple Creek strike, whom Harry Orchard connects with some of the violence in Cripple Creek, was recalled to the stand in the Stennessberg trial this morning. Easterly directly denied Orchard's testimony that reflects upon him and swore in the fall of 1903 he heard Orchard threaten to kill Stennessberg. On cross-examination the state strongly attacked Easterly for remaining silent after he knew Orchard, as Thomas Hogan, had killed Stennessberg.

AMERICAN ZIONISTS ON JEWISH NATIONALISM

Annual Congress In Session--International Congress Will Be Lobby At The Hague Peace Conference.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tannersville, N. Y., June 28.—Two hundred delegates representing every section of the country gathered here today to attend the tenth annual convention of the Federation of American Zionists. Religious services marked the opening today. Tomorrow will be spent as a day of rest. The business will open on Sunday morning with the reading of reports from officers and committees. A banquet will be held Monday evening, and the convention will continue until Wednesday afternoon, when officers will be elected.

The present officers of the federation are: Uresident, Dr. Harry Friedenwald of Baltimore; treasurer, Henry Jackson of Pittsburgh; secretary, J. L. Magnes of New York. It is expected that Dr. Friedenwald will be elected again, and that Dr. Magnes will continue as secretary.

In addition to the officers the prominent participants in the convention include Rev. Dr. Joseph Friedlander of Beaumont, Texas; Dr. Solomon Schlechter of New York; Dr. H. P. Mendes of New York; George Tunkle of Augusta, Ga.; Jacob de Haas of Boston; Bernard G. Richards of New York; and Leon Zolotoff of Chicago. The Federation of American Zionists was organized primarily for the purpose of establishing in Palestine a legal home for the oppressed and persecuted Jews of Russia, Roumania and other European countries, and to furnish them with an asylum, by the consent of the powers, where they might have an opportunity to begin life anew under more favorable circumstances. In promoting this aim the federation works in conjunction with the International Zionist Congress, which has branches throughout the world.

Other matters, however, are to occupy a large share of the attention of the present convention of the federation. The greater part of the program will be devoted to questions of organization, and it is probable some action will be taken by the federation in reply to the attacks that have been made this year by Reform Jewish rabbis upon Dowleism. The federation expects also to take some action recommending certain resolutions to the next session of the International Zionist Congress, which will be held at The Hague during the latter part of August. The international congress is to be held at The Hague this year in order to influence, if possible, the treatment of the Jewish question by the Peace Congress. The Zionists hope to be able to present the Jewish nationalist question to the Peace Congress in some form or other that may bring some expression of opinion from the delegates present to consider matters of peace and war.

Their arrival will mark the first important step in the plans of the Jewish Immigration Society to form Jewish colonies in the southwest. The plans have been going forward for some time and are now well organized. It is the chief aim of the society to divert the Jewish immigration from the large cities and congested districts of the north to Texas and the contiguous territory west of the Mississippi. The immigrants are to be carefully selected and will include artisans, mechanics, farmers and others fitted to take up life in a new country.

HARVARD FRESHMEN WON IN HOT GRUELLING CONTEST

Yale, However, Takes The Four-Oared Event In Easy Time, With Lots Of Margin.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New London, Conn., June 28.—The Harvard freshman eight today won a boat race from Yale by a length and a half. The race was a splendid struggle, a fight from the pistol to the finish, in which Harvard always had the lead with enough reserve power to keep in the lead. Both crews finished in good shape. Thirty seconds after crossing the line victorious, the Yale varsity crew cheered their defeated freshmen. The four-oared race immediately followed. It was a procession. Yale led slightly at the start, increasing it until the finish, going over the line ten lengths ahead of Harvard. Both crews were tired. The official time of the freshmen was: Harvard, 1:15; Yale, 1:19. The four-oared: Yale, 12:33; Harvard, 13:15.

MEN'S MEETING ON SUNDAY AT THREE

"THE UNPARDONABLE SIN" SUBJECT OF LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

MANY CONVERTS ARE MADE

Danger Line Ahead—Three Hundred and Eleven Converted up to Date.

The revival moves on like a mighty avalanche down the mountain side gathering momentum as it goes. No one can measure the wide-sweeping influence and the deep-reaching effect of such an effort as is now being put forth by the four churches of this city with Dr. Scoville as leader.

Every businessman will be helped by such a campaign. A prominent citizen came forward last Sunday night and accepted Jesus Christ as his personal Saviour. A struggle had been going on in his own mind for many days. He at last yielded to the best and noblest that was in him. Not content with taking the good step alone he at once became interested in others and especially in a friend who lived at Harvard, Illinois, and who in former years had endeavored to persuade him to lead a Christian life, but had grown indifferent and careless. The Janesville man made a trip to Harvard, told the good news to his oldtime friend and brought him to the meetings last night and when the invitation was given these two strong men marched down the aisle together and stood side by side as they made the good confession.

Yesterday morning a young lad about 12 years of age met Mrs. Scoville on the street and told her that he had decided to become a minister. This boy has been present at nearly every service and has brought many of his companions to the point of confessing Christ. During the opening service last evening Morrell was in his accustomed place and when the opportunity was given he joined with others in repeating a verse of scripture. This determination of the boy relative to his life work was made known to the congregation by the speaker. Together with the special sermon last night this little episode had a most salutary effect upon the father, of Morrell, who was present, for he, too, came to the front and took his stand with his son.

Many people lingered at the rink after the benediction had been pronounced. A retired Congregational minister of this city took Dr. Scoville by the hand and said there has certainly been an inexpressible power here tonight, and the spirit of Almighty God has been working. Just at this moment others came with tears in their eyes and acknowledged Christ as the Son of God and their Deliverer. The evangelist spoke with fervor and unction from on high. Not in any sermon thus far has he been more sane, scriptural and searching.

The most unconcerned could readily see that his every word came from a heart that was burning for the salvation of souls, the glory of God and the good of humanity.

The unforgivable sin was his theme, but back of the subject was the man on fire for God and the lost ones. He first spoke of the nine sins that were punishable by death in the Old Testament and also traced the work of the Holy Spirit as He worked in and through men under the old dispensations. From first word to last his arguments were clear and convincing.

He took occasion to speak about the "Danger-line" or "Dead-line" in the life of the man or woman who continues to trifle with God and give no heed to His calls, and some day said he unless they change their course they will cry out for the hills and mountains to fall upon them. There is a time we know not when. A peace we know not where. That marks the destiny of men. For glory or despair.

Subject tonight—What must I do to be saved? A delegation is expected from Edgerton. Mens mass-meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

TCURING-CAR PARTY—MAROONED ALL NIGHT

Doi and Max Jeffris and Company of Young People Came to Grief in Spin to Beloit, after Golf Club Dance.

Doi and Max Jeffris and a party of young people, who attended the dance at the golf links last evening, reached their homes about noon today. Just before the "Home, Sweet Home" waltz they started out for a spin to Beloit. Midway between the two cities the car broke down and efforts to repair it, extending over several hours, proved unavailing. The interurban cars were no longer running and there was no way of allaying the anxiety of parents until this morning.

In all Lord Wolseley's campaigns he made it a rule, where possible, to allow each soldier one pound of tobacco a month, which he considered a fair allowance. BOLD BURGLARY ON S. MAIN ST.

HOME OF MRS. GEORGIANNA CROSS ENTERED AT AN EARLY HOUR THIS MORNING.

MRS. PARKER AWAKENED

By Noise of Man Crawling Away from Bedside—Calmly Finished Operation after She Gave Alarm—Suspect Captured by Officer Mason.

At the old brick and stone boarding-house, 105 South Main street—just north of the Cullen flats—the home of Mrs. Georgianna Cross, Mrs. Eliza Hodge, and their families, occurred at an early hour this morning one of the boldest burglaries which has taken place in this locality in many months. The job was done in the light of the full moon, supplemented by the illumination from a lamp in the lower hallway which the leisurely Mr. Raffles lighted in the course of his explorations, and under the glow of which he completed his operations of slashing open a couple of hand-bags and extracting their contents, in full view of two spectators in the street.

Crawled About in Red-Room

It was about half-past one o'clock when Mrs. B. M. Parker of Indianapolis, a boarder occupying the front room opening out upon a little second-story balcony, was awakened by a noise and became aware of a presence in her room. Her first impression was that one of the other tenants who had been unwell had come to her quarters to secure some medicine but this presently gave way to vague uneasiness, quickly followed by abject terror, as she distinguished in the dim light a black object crouching and crawling away from her bedside. As she found her voice to scream: "You get out of here!" the intruder rose to his feet, opened the unbolting door, and giving it a slam to drown noises which might awaken the household, made his way downstairs.

Ticklish Business Tackled Too Late

Two wayfarers, S. B. Woodruff and R. H. Van Cleave, returning from the dance at the golf links, were passing as Mrs. Parker came out on the balcony and called for help. While she was narrating what had taken place they suddenly espied the burglar moving about in the dining-room on the first floor. He was deliberately ripping open with a knife two hand-bags which he found in the parlor, though this was not learned until some time later. One of them belonging to Mrs. Bessie Taylor, contained a new five-dollar bill which had been folded up in a sort of accordion plait, two dollars in silver, and two quarters; the other, the property of Mrs. Hodge, contained fifty-one cents, including about 19 pennies. When the burglar had finished his operations he crawled out through the hole he had cut in the screen protecting the dining-room window-door on the north side, which had been left unlocked and open. He was small of stature, wore a black slouch-hat pulled far down over his forehead, and advanced gingerly with an unsteady, limping gait toward the Main street sidewalk. The two wayfarers held their places on the street car-track and awaited some hostile or friendly overture from the house-breaker. He shuffled along a few steps with one hand on his hip-pocket and then came to a stop under the shadow of one of the big trees. For some moments he continued to regard the straw-hat statuery in the middle of the street. Then he resumed his journey. As he reached the corner and turned up St. Lawrence avenue, the graven images suddenly came to life and started on the night-providers' trail. As they came around the corner he broke into a run, utterly disregarding the commands—"Hey there! Stop! I want to speak to you!"—of Mr. Woodruff who was heading the pursuit. The burglar cut across Major F. P. Stevens' lawn and hit the South Bluff street walk at three-minute gait, or nearly so, and the posse presently gave it up and returned to headquarters to ascertain the extent of the damage done. Mrs. Parker, who was still on the balcony, said that her watch which she had left under the pillow and a pocket-book containing $10 which lay under a jacket on her desk, were safe. She then went to rouse the household, the members of which—up to this time—were in blissful ignorance of all that had transpired.

Suspect Is Arrested

At the intersection of Milwaukee and Franklin streets at half-past five o'clock Officer William Mason arrested a suspicious-looking individual, slightly under the influence of liquor, and answering the descriptions given. The man gave his name as Joseph Graham and said that he belonged in Milwaukee, had come here from Beloit, and had spent the night in the woods about two miles from town. When he was searched at the station over nine dollars in money, in the exact denominations stolen from the boarding-house—even to the nineteen pennies; an ugly-looking razor; one jack-knife with a blade backed by contact with some metal substance; another with a large, keen blade; two pairs of spectacles; and the piece of soap and brush which go with the regulation hobo's kit, were taken from him. He is lame in the left foot, wears the black slouch hat, and tallies in every way with the dimensions given. But he stoutly protests his innocence, even in the presence of witnesses who are certain of their identification.

Are You Afraid Of Lightning?

Not exactly afraid, you say, but—well you feel nervous and uncomfortable when the sky is rent asunder by blinding flashes and then the thunder crashes all about. That's only natural. And those of nervous temperament actually undergo real suffering during thunderstorms. In the last analysis this feeling is simply a dread that the house or its inmates may be struck.

There's a sure preventative. If your house is equipped with the Janesville Pure Copper Cable Lightning Rod, there's

No Need To Be Afraid

Why? Simply because lightning "strikes" only where there is an accumulation of electricity to "attract" the electricity with which the clouds are charged. AND THE JANESVILLE LIGHTNING ROD MAKES THIS IMPOSSIBLE BY CARRYING OFF THE ELECTRICITY IN THE BUILDING AS FAST AS IT ACCUMULATES. Do you see the point?

Lightning never struck a building which was equipped with the JANESVILLE PURE COPPER LIGHTNING ROD. It never can. We guarantee this. If your home and buildings are properly "Rodded" with our Rod, you may rest secure in the knowledge that your lives and property are secure during the most terrific thunderstorm.

If you can't call on us we'll be glad to call on you, and demonstrate WHY, in detail.

THAT LEGISLATURE
That legislature at Madison is breaking all records for staying on the job longer than any of its predecessors. They like Madison evidently and are waiting to see how the capitol will look when finished. Hot weather is no bar and the crops do not worry the members in the least. They just stick around and if they finish by the first of August they will have accomplished something. However, let credit be given the senate. This body of statesmen yesterday killed the two-cent railway bill with a promptness that was surprising. Thus they really waked to the responsibility of the situation. The assembly, however, continues to thresh out long argumentative debates without really accomplishing much. It is costing the state considerable, this prolonged session, and the members themselves are getting tired of it.

SHOULD BE CAREFUL.
The small boy with the firecracker should be careful not to hold the dangerous powder magazine too long just because some bigger boy tells him. The small boy who wants to be a wild west cowboy should be shunned for his deadly pistol claims many a victim about this time of the year. Above all the parents should take enough interest in the affair to watch over their children's welfare by careful warning as to what to do and what not to do.

ALL SHOULD DECORATE.
On Thursday next Janesville is to be invaded by thousands of strangers here to help celebrate the Fourth. If the day is to be a success every citizen should do his part. Every store and every private residence should be decorated for the occasion. It is to be a gala occasion and let everyone enter into the spirit of the day. Hang out Old Glory and otherwise show your patriotic spirit.

Should anyone visit South Janesville they will be surprised at the work already done on the new railway yards. By the way, Janesville has to thank a former resident for their location. He was the man behind the guns that decided the matter.

The state legislature has decided to adjourn until after the Fourth. They were afraid they would have to stay in Madison over the Fourth, when every mother's son of them wants to come to Janesville, so they adjourned.

There is a more friendly feeling existing today between Beloit and Janesville than ever before. It is something that should be carefully nurtured to see it does not die before reaching real genuine friendship.

Judge Landis has surprised the Standard Oil officials by his kind invitation to call on him in his Chicago courtroom shortly. It is rumored they will accept his kind invitation and attend en masse.

Portugal appears to be on the verge of telling their good kind old King to take a vacation for a long period. In other words they would place a yellow slip in his Saturday evening pay envelope.

Who says that Janesville is not up to date? Why, even the Nonesuch Bros. circus bill posters can travel seventy-five miles in an automobile to advertise the glorious celebration.

Chicago cigarette smokers are wrathful over the little joker that has appeared in the Illinois state cigarette law. They do not know what to do about it nor do the smokers.

Walter Wellman seeks the North Pole. His mode of travel is to be an airship and according to his figures he expects to find the pole and return all in a few months.

Evidently some of the local automobilists think that the city marshal was only bluffing when he spoke about the speed limit being exceeded in Janesville.

Maybe the school teachers sitting in their hammocks beneath cool trees are not just as glad it is vacation time as are the scholars.

The 1804 dollar appears to be really more valuable than one would think. How many of them are there anyway?

There is treason in the Russian war department though that is not a surprising fact to be learned.

Taft called on Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, to report he was well received in Janesville, doubtless.

The leader of the French wine-growers' strike does not find himself in an enviable position.

Mark Twain as an Oxford Don wore a gown that closely resembled his famous bath robe.

New York is to have noise zones. A good idea, but make Wall Street zone large enough.

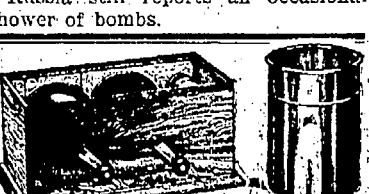

The small boy and his firecracker are still much in evidence.

Russia still reports an occasional shower of bombs.

"Sued for $408.00 Dental Bill"

This morning's Chicago papers give particulars of a case in court where a dentist is suing a patient for $408 for filling 14 teeth.

He brought in a lot of brother dentists who swore his charges were reasonable and that he might have charged anywhere from $200 to $1500 for the work and it would have been all fair.

That's just it. Some dentists charge all they think your purse will stand. That's where Dr. Richards is different.

He has fixed a fair price which will give him a living margin on his work. He makes gold crowns for $5.00 each and warrants them the same as you are paying $10.00 elsewhere.

The difference in price is all in the mind of the dentist who employ.

Not in the crown.

As a consequence, Dr. Richards is putting on as high as 45 cents a month.

$10 is prohibitive but most any one feels that a tooth is worth $5 saved to them for years of good service.

If you have him do your work it will be done right.

FOUND BY TRACKS BY SECTION MEN

FRANK LEONARD, A WANDERER, FELL FROM FREIGHT TRAIN.

HIP AND LEG WERE BROKEN

Lay for Three Hours Helpless Until Discovered—Is at the County Farm.

Frank Leonard, who claims the world as his home, was found lying near the Chicago and North-Western tracks, a mile this side of Shopiere, with a broken leg and a dislocated hip, about ten this morning, by the Shopiere section crew. He was taken to Shopiere on a hand-car and sent to the city on the train arriving here at 11:45 and hurried immediately to the county hospital, where Drs. Wood and Pomeroy attended him. His hip was out of joint and his left leg broken below the knee. He gave his name as Leonard and said he fell from the top of a freight train near Shopiere about seven this morning. He was "beating his way" from Minneapolis to Chicago and claims to have no home. He is in the county hospital and is very comfortably situated with every prospect for his recovery.

Patent Medicines.
That there are patent medicines that do what they claim, is shown by the success of the Dr. Bell's Kidney Pills. It hardly seems true, but it is a fact that in the window of Heilmann's drug store there are one hundred and eighty-six dollars worth of these pills today, which shows the faith druggists have in these goods. You can get a box of the pills free for a trial, if you wish them.

REMOVES S.S.S. BLOOD HUMORS

When the blood is pure and healthy the skin will be soft, smooth and free from eruptions, but when the blood becomes infected with some unhealthy humor the effect is shown by rashes, eruptions, boils and pimples, or other disfiguring and annoying skin disease. The skin is provided with countless pores and glands which act as a drainage system to rid the body of impurities through the perspiration that is constantly passing through these little tubes. There are other glands that pour out on the skin an oily substance to keep it soft and pliable. When the blood becomes filled with humors and acids these are thrown off through the pores and glands, burning and irritating the skin and drying up the natural oils so that we have not only Acne, Eczema, Salt Rheum, etc., but such dry, scaly skin affections as Tetter, Psoriasis, and kindred troubles. The treatment of skin troubles with salves, washes, lotions, etc., is not along the right line. True, such treatment relieves some of the itching and discomfort and aids in keeping the skin clear, but it does not reach the real cause of the trouble, which are humors in the blood, and it can therefore have no real curative effect on these skin affections. S. S. S., a gentle acting and perfect blood purifier, is the best and quickest treatment. It goes down into the blood and removes the humors, fiery acids and poisons from the circulation, cools the overheated blood, and by sending a fresh stream of nourishing blood to the skin permanently cures skin diseases of every character. S. S. S. is made entirely of health producing roots, herbs and barks, and is an absolutely safe remedy for young or old. S. S. S. cures Eczema, Acne, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Psoriasis, and all other disagreeable and unsightly eruptions of the skin. Special book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.

HONORS AND DIAMONDS AWAIT THE WINNERS

Some Candidates Vote All Their Certificates, While Others Vote None, Preferring To Hold Them Till The Last and Keep Their Strength A Mystery.

There is good work being done by all the contestants for the fourteen valuable prizes which are offered by The Daily Gazette for the most popular persons in the city and vicinity. The friendly struggle for supremacy is waxing warm and the result becomes a deeper mystery as the contest progresses.

To have it openly admitted that you are the most popular person in town or in the county is an honor to be obtained perhaps only once in a lifetime, and the many friends of the various candidates are anxious to devote their efforts in behalf of their favorites in order to share the great honor. Every person having a friend among the candidates should vote every ballot they can secure and should also secure the voting certificates which are issued for paid subscriptions and vote them for the person they wish to win. Every vote will help as the contest promises to be a close and exciting one.

No information regarding the number of certificates issued will be given any candidate excepting their own personal standing.

"I'M THE REAL THING"

So Says Umpire Silk O'Loughlin, and We Ought to Know.

HOW TO RUN BALL GAME.

Arbitrator Should Keep Players Hustling (If He Can) and Get as Close to Every Play as Possible—Hold Men In Check.

By SILK O'LOUGHLIN.

[American league umpire.] Umpiring is a business, and it has been mine for twelve years, during which time I naturally have had some very queer experiences. If I have attained any success as an "arbitrator" it is because I have put my mind down to my work and given it just as much of my time and thought as have been given in other lines and professions.

I believe that the umpire is just as much of a feature at a ball game as are the players.

More depends upon him, and he should realize this fact when he steps upon the field. It has always been my idea to let the public and the players know that the umpire is the real thing. He should create this impression when he walks on the field and impress it upon every one's mind as the game progresses.

I have made it a study to give the public all that is coming to them from the umpire. The people in the stands are entitled to know what decisions I render, and I try to make this plain both by signals of the hands and arms and also by the peculiar manner of announcing balls and strikes.

I draw out strikes as long as possible so that they can be easily distinguished from the balls. I never say two because that is sometimes misunderstood, while "fuh" is never mistaken for anything else.

One of the first things an umpire should learn is to get as near every play as possible. I move about, and make the players do the same thing. Put action into your work, and the players will follow suit. There is nothing more tiresome than a druggery game of ball, and the umpire can make it draggy if he is so disposed. I make the players hustle, and I have never yet found a player who did not want to get through a game as quickly as possible.

Umpires sometimes make trouble for themselves by allowing the game to get out of their hands. Hold the players in check, and you will never have any trouble with them. I started to umpire when I was but twenty years old, and I have been at it ever since. Umpiring is not always pleasant, but I like my work.

No More Mexico For White Sox.

J. L. Comiskey, son of the president of the world's champions, Chicago Americans, who is traveling with the team in charge of the financial end, says that there will be no more trips to Mexico for the players. "Members of the team were thoroughly disgusted at the climate, their surroundings and everything connected with the trip," said Comiskey junior. "My father has offered the White Sox $15,000 if they win this year's pennant," said Comiskey, "with their part of the receipts for another world's series, win or lose. Each man's pro rata share should be a snug little fortune should such a thing happen, but father has decided to offer in addition a free trip to Ireland and return for all who care to travel across to the old sod, provided, of course, we win the race."

Even J. R. Keene's Castoffs Win.

In addition to the horses that have won for Mr. Keene in his own colors, castoff horses from the Keene stable, representing the Castleton stud, have been winners of many races for other owners on race courses in all parts of the country, the chief winners in the east being Robin Hood, Dolly Spanker and Osama, while the stable trained by Dr. S. W. Street, which raced at New Orleans through the winter and will campaign in the west through the season, has made a further big addition to the total of the earnings of the Keene stallions at Castleton farm.

Lindaman Wins Championship.

Lindaman of the Boston Nationals has beaten Charlie Hall's record for wildness. Hall gave nine passes in seven innings in a recent game at Pittsburgh. Lindaman smashed that performance by passing eight men and hitting one in five and one-half innings.

Prosperity.

How portentous is prosperity! How, comet-like, it threatens while it shines.

DECATUR LAKE A PRETTY RETREAT

BODY OF CLEAR WATER NESTLING AMONG GREEN HILLS.

BRODHEAD SUMMER RESORT

Hidden Away Near Ruins of Once Thriving Village and Far from Humdrum Life.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Brodhead, Wis., June 28.—Unheard of by the many, known of but not known about by others, and acquainted with by but a few is Brodhead's summer resort—Decatur Lake. This little body of clear, sparkling water nestles among the hills and bluffs three miles north of the city. Through these same elevations that join with the valleys in giving the section a rolling contour winds the Sugar river, famous the country over for the lustrous pearls found in its bed. All this natural beauty is enhanced by the picturesque relics of a deserted village high up on the bluff that overlooks the lake from the south.
Relics of Deserted Village.
There once stood the thriving settlement known as Decatur. Then the present site of Brodhead was mostly uncultivated prairie, containing but a single house. Now and her people use Decatur not for the business of life but for their warm-weather haunt. Of course a few caved-in cellars and half-rotten walls on a plateau fifty or sixty feet above a stream is not an intense magnet for sightseers but it is an interesting enough attraction for parties of meanderers and lazy excursionists. On the other sides of the lake are the summer homes of a number of Brodhead people and Decatur Park, a resort open to the public.
Pretty Rural Panorama.
The trip from Brodhead to Decatur is made by launch. The dock is six blocks from the railway depot. Fast little gasoline boats carry the outers up the winding raceway. It is a thirty-minute trip through beautiful green pastures, fields of luxuriant grain, with knolls and trees here and there, while now and then a thrifty but unassuming farmhouse occupies the view and at times a glimpse is caught of the Sugar river which twists through the westward landscape—a panorama that, though it changes only in detail, delights the eye.

Neat Cottages and Grounds.
At the lake a landing can be made almost anywhere. On the left, shore is Valley Park, the summer home of Ex-Mayor J. A. Young. He has a neat little cottage and the grounds are pretty and well kept. Just beyond is Fair Oaks owned by Mr. Guelson. His cottage is exceedingly large and roomy and is located on a bluff up which runs a long flight of natural stone steps. The same landing that is used by Fair Oaks outers is met by the path from Riverside Park, the property of M. H. Williams. Riverside is always carefully kept and has one of the best cottages on the lake. Camp Putnam, as the name implies, is owned by Mayor H. C. Putnam, who early recognizing the beauties and advantages of Decatur built the first cottage on its shore. His ideal grounds are surrounded by a hill that overlooks the surroundings and in the valley below is a mineral spring. Back from the water's edge is the Fanny Fern, a cozy quiet retreat. Sherloskin, with well kept grounds and convenient cottage, is the next resort. The name is composed of the first syllables of the three owners' names, C. J. Sherman, W. F. Holcomb and W. R. Skinner. The adjoining grounds consist of several acres and are occupied by two cottages, the larger one of which accommodates fifteen or twenty people. At the lower central end of the lake are several islands and on one is situated the cottage of C. E. and M. H. Doolittle and George E. Dixon. The owners have named the place Coney Island.

Side Trip to Albany
The majority of these cottages own launches and there are a score or more rowboats, scattered about the shores. Fishing is good and boating a real pleasure.

One of the features of the usual outing at Decatur is a trip to Albany. This journey is full of surprises and enjoyment and takes one over Mirror Lake, through the cut-off, among the "thousand islands," past the log jam and into the narrows. Another pleasing excursion is to the hanging rock, one of the sights of the district.

Name for Borrowed Plumes.
A New York tailor has coined a new term for the suits and costumes he rents for weddings, balls, etc. He announces: "A lair Clothing to Hire."

Couldn't Be Done.
A colored preacher who had only a small share of this world's goods, and whose salary was not forthcoming on several occasions, became exasperated. At his morning service he spoke to his church members in this way: "Brethren and Sisters—Things is not as they should be. You must not 'spects I can preach on 'u'n an' 'board in Heben.'—Exchange.

COFFEE MATCHED AT LAST
A Test Package Mailed Free.
A new product—Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee—is said to so closely match Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor, taste, and aroma, as to be scarcely discernible from the very best brands of real Coffee. "And yet," says Dr. Shoop, "Health Coffee has not even a grain of real Coffee in it." I make my Coffee imitation from pure, healthful, toasted grains or cereals, with malt, nuts, etc. This is why I have named it Health Coffee.

Again, the tedious 20 or 30 minutes wait, necessary in preparing other Coffee, is mostly saved. My new Health Coffee imitation is made in exactly one minute—in 60 seconds.
If Coffee drinking makes you dull and listless, if it disturbs your stomach, your heart, or your kidneys, try my Health Coffee and see for yourself what it can do for you. Send 4 cents in stamps to your nearest post office, Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., and secure a liberal test package entirely free. 1½ pound package Health Coffee sells at 25 cents by.

Maybe You're Getting Good Cigars—Maybe Not

Trouble is you can't always tell—you take a chance and pay your money. Sometimes you get a good smoke and often you get a poor one.

You can be sure of what you're getting before you smoke it.

No matter where you buy your smokes, or what price you pay—the best cigar for your money you'll find in boxes bearing this Triangle A mark of merit.

This Triangle A represents remarkable improvement in cigar quality. The American Cigar Company's extensive, growing, buying, storing and manufacturing facilities and costly equipment, systematically operated in refining and blending the closely graded leaf, have brought about this improvement without increasing the cost.

The only way you can benefit by the better quality thus made available, is to be sure the Triangle A is stamped on the box whenever you buy cigars.

If you like a really good domestic cigar we suggest you try

The New CREMO

Maybe you'd like some other Triangle A brand better, but you can't fail to note the immensely improved quality of this famous cigar—a direct and convincing result of our scientific manufacturing methods.

Want work, don't you? Anything, so it's honest. But you don't know just where to turn to get it, do you?

You can apply for it from door to door or from office to office. That takes time, and the chances are a long time before you get the job.

But you'll be listened to in a "Situation Wanted" ad in the Want Columns of The Gazette. Not by one man or one firm. Hundreds of business men—employers of labor—read the classified columns of The Gazette each evening. Your ad in these columns is sure of respectful attention.

Just try it. Write a little ad stating your qualifications. Your application for a position—for that's what the ad will be—will go before a large audience of employers—an audience that could not be reached as inexpensively or as effectively in any other way.

By HAROLD MACGRATH
AUTHOR OF "THE BOY ON THE BOAT"
"HEARTS AND MINDS ETC."

"You go through Doppelkinn, then?"

"Yes. I have friends in Dresden whom I wish to see before going home."

"Well, good luck to you!"
Then I announced that Max Scharfstein, an old college comrade, would join us presently. This was greeted with hurrahs. At that time there wasn't an American student who did not recollect Max's great run from the ten-yard line. (But where the deuce was Max?) I took a little flag from my pocket and stuck it into the vase of poppies, and the boys clapped their hands. You never realize how beautiful your flag is till you see it in a foreign land. I apologized for Max's absence, explaining the cause, and ordered dinner to be served. We hadn't much time, as Ellis' train departed at ten. It was now a quarter of nine.

We had come to the refreshment when a party of four officers took the table nearest us. They hung up their sabers on the wall-peg, and sat down, ordering a bottle of light wine. Usually there were five chairs to the table, but even if only two were being used no one had the right to withdraw one of the vacant chairs without the most elaborate apologies. This is the law of courtesy in Barschelt. In America it is different; if you see anything you want take it.

Presently one of the officers—I knew none of them save by sight—rose and approached. He touched the flag insolently and inquired what right it had in a public restaurant in Barschelt. Ordinarily his question would not have been put without some justification. But he knew very well who I was and what my rights were in this instance.

"Herr Lieutenant," said I coldly, though my cheeks were warm enough. "I represent that flag in this country, and I am accredited with certain privileges, as doubtless you are aware. You will do me the courtesy of returning to your own table." I bowed.

He glared at me for a brief period, then turned on his heel. This was the first act in the play. At the fellows' table sat Lieut. von Storer, Doppelkinn's nephew and half-presumptive. He was, to speak plainly, a rake, a spendthrift and wholly untrustworthy. He was not ill-looking, however.

My spirits floated between anger and the fear that the officers might ruin the dinner—which they eventually did.

Things went on smoothly for a time. The orchestra was pom-pomming the popular airs from "Faust." (Where the deuce was that tow-headed Dutchman?) Laughter rose and fell; the clink of glass was heard; voices called. And then Max came in, looking as cool as you please, though I could read by his heaving chest that he had been sprinting up back streets. The boys crowded around him, and there was much ado over the laggard.

Unfortunately the waiter had forgotten to bring a chair for his plate. With a genial smile on his face, Max innocently stepped over to the officers' table and plucked forth the vacant chair. For a wonder the officers appeared to give this action no heed, and I was secretly gratified. It was something to be a consul after all. But I counted my chickens too early.

"Where are the cigars?" I asked as Max sat down complacently.

"Cigars?"—blankly. "Hang me, I've clean forgotten them!" And then, oblivious of the probable storm that was at that moment gathering for a down-pour over his luckless head, he told us the reason of his delay.

"There was a crowd around the palace," he began. "It seems that the Princess Hildegarde has run away, and they believe that she has ridden toward the Pass in a closed carriage. The police are at this very moment scouring the country in that direction. She has eloped."

"Eloped?" we all cried, being more or less familiar with the state of affairs at the palace.

"Good-by to Doppelkinn's frau!"
"Good girl!"

"She has been missing since seven o'clock," when she drove away on the pretense of visiting her father's old steward, who is ill, went on Max, feeling the importance of his news. "They traced her there. From the steward's the carriage was driven south, and that's the last seen of her. There won't be any wedding at the cathedral next Tuesday,"—laughing.

Queries and answers were going crisscross over the table, when I observed with dread that Lieut. von Storer had risen and was coming our way. He stopped at Max's side. Max looked up to receive Von Storer's glove full on the cheek. "It was no gentle stroke," Von Storer at once returned to his table and sat down.

For a moment we were all absolutely without power of motion or of speech. Max's face grew as white as the tablecloth, and the print of the glove glowed red against the white. I was horrified, for I knew his tremendous strength. If he showed fight, Von Storer would calmly smother him. It was the custom. But Max surprised me. He was the coolest among us but of that quality of coolness which did not reassure me. He took up his story where he had left off and finished it. For his remarkable control I could have taken him in my arms and hugged him.

The officers scowled, while Von Storer bit his mustache nervously. The American had ignored his insult. Presently he rose, again, and, approached. He thrust a card under Max's nose.

"Can you understand that?" he asked contemptuously.

Max took the card, ripped it into quarters and dropped these to the floor. Then, to my terror and the terror of those with me, he tranquilly pulled out a murderous looking Colt and laid it beside his plate. He went on talking, but none of us heard, a word he said. We were fearfully waiting to see him kill some one or be killed.

No one was killed. The officers hurriedly took down their sabers and made a beeline for the door of which I have spoken.

Max returned the revolver to his hip-pocket and gave vent to an Homeric laugh.

"You tow-headed Dutchman!" I cried, when I found voice for my words, "what have you done?"

"Done? Why, it looks as if we had all the downs this half," he replied smartly. "Oh, the gun isn't loaded,"—confidentially.

Ellis tumbled in his pocket and produced his passports and tickets. These he shoved over to Max.

"What's this for?" Max asked curiously.

"Ellis," said I, "it is very good of you, Max, take those. Mr. Ellis wishes to save your hide. Take them and get to the station as quickly as you can. And for the love of mercy, do not turn around till you're over in Doppelkinn's vineyard."

"Well, I'm hanged if I understand!" he cried. "I'm a peaceful man. A beggar walks up to me and slaps me in the face for nothing at all, and now I must like, eh? What the devil have I done now?"

Then, as briefly as I could, I explained the enormity of his offenses. To take a chair from a table, as he had done, was a gross insult; to receive a slap in the face and not to resent it, was another insult; to tear up an opponent's visiting card, still another; to take out a revolver in Barschelt, unless you were an officer or had a permit, was worse than an insult; it was a crime, punishable by long imprisonment. They could accuse him of being either an anarchist or a socialist, coming to Barschelt with the intent to kill the grand duke. The fact that he was ignorant of the laws, or that he was an alien, would remit not one particle of his punishment and fine; and weeks would pass ere the matter could be arranged between the United States and Barschelt.

"Good Lord!" he gasped; "why didn't you tell me?"

"Why didn't you tell me that you carried a cannon in your pocket? Take Ellis' papers, otherwise you stand pat for a heap of trouble, and I can't help you. Go straight to Dresden, telegraph me, and I'll forward your luggage."

"But I came here to study!" Max argued.

"It will be geology in the form of prison walls," said Ellis quietly. "Don't be foolish, Mr. Scharfstein. It is not a matter of a man's courage, but of his common sense. Take the tickets and light out. I have lived here for three years, and have seen men killed outright for less than you have done."

"But you don't expect me to leave this place without punching that beggar's head!"—indignantly. "What do you think I'm made of?"

"You'll never get the chance to punch his head," said I. "We are wasting valuable time. Those officers have gone for the police. You have about 20 minutes to make the train. Come, for heaven's sake, come!"

He finally got it into his head that we knew what we were talking about. How we got him to the station I do not remember, but somehow we got him there. He sputtered and fumed and swore, as all brave men will who feel that they are running away in a cowardly fashion. He wasn't convinced, but he thanked Ellis for his kindness and hoped that he wouldn't get into trouble on his (Max's) account.

"Go straight to Dresden; say you've been studying medicine in Barschelt for three years, refer to me by telegraph if there is any question as to your identity," said I. "You're the only man in the world, Max, that I'd like for."

He stumbled through the gates, and we saw him open the door of a carriage just as the train began to pull out. A guard tried to stop him, but he was not quite quick enough. We watched the train till it melted away into the blackness beyond the terminus covering; then we, I and my fellow diners, went soberly into the street. Here was a howdy-do! Suddenly Ellis let out a sounding laugh, and, scarcely knowing why, we joined him. It was funny, very funny, for every one but poor old Max! The American spirit is based on the sense of humor, and even in tragic moments is irrepressible.

We did not return to Muller's; each of us stole quietly home to await the advent of the police, for they would rout out every American in town in their search for the man with the gun. They would first visit the consulate and ascertain what I knew of the affair; when they got through with the rest of the boys Max would be in Doppelkinn. The police were going to be very busy that night; a princess on one hand and an anarchist on the other.

There were terrible times, too, in the palace. Long before we watched Max's train and the vanishing green and red lights at the end of it the grand duke was having troubles of his own. He was pacing wildly up and down in his dressing-room. Clutched in his fist was a crumpled sheet of paper. From time to time he smoothed it out and reread the contents. Each time he swore like the celebrated man in Flanders.

"You forced me and I warned you that I would do something desperate. Do not send for me, for you will never find me till you come to your senses. I have eloped."

CORNER STONE OF EMPIRE.

Horse Has at All Times Been Potent Factor in War.

From the earliest times the horse has been a potent factor in war, and to-day his education is a delicate and serious matter, undertaken at great expense by all the nations of the world. Germany needs a million horses for her cavalry and artillery to put her colossal forces in the field; France requires probably three-quarters of a million; and even Great Britain has needed as many as 230,000—in her serious predicament in South Africa while she was fighting the Boers.

Although England in "peace" time mounts only two-thirds of her cavalry, her horse bill amounts to about $400,000 a year—a figure which may be multiplied by four or five for the German army. In most countries omnibuses, farm and domestic horses are registered as miscellaneous service, and for this anything from $30,000 to $130,000 a year may be paid by a military nation.

France spends upward of $600,000 a year on horses for her great armies. As a general rule, the recruits are five years old and cost $200 each.—From "The War Horse at School," by William C. Fitz-Gerald, in the Circle.

..Forty Years Ago..

June 28, 1867.—Accident on the C. & U-W. Railway.—On Tuesday last the locomotive "Jefferson" was badly smashed at some point above Oshkosh and the fireman was badly injured. A report has prevailed that he died from the effects of his hurt. The engine went through here yesterday on her way to the shop for repairs.

The Oriental Circus.—Tomorrow morning French's Oriental Circus and Egyptian Caravan will enter this city in grand oriental state procession, and travel the principal streets, thus affording our citizens a gratuitous view of one of the most magnificent spectacles ever witnessed in Jamesville. The grand cavalcade will be preceded by the golden chariot named after Anthony's dark eyed mistress, drawn by twelve Arabian camels, driven by genuine Bedouin Arabs. Next will follow the Indians and after them the performers, &c., all mounted, and the wagons, vans and carriages, drawn by magnificent blooded horses. This is the largest and best exhibition now traveling in the Northwest, and is deserving of the liberal patronage of the public.

Carelessness.—Some persons engaged in rebuilding a bridge over a small stream in the town of Jamesville, about three miles from the city, took the structure up, and left the chasm unguarded over night. Of course it presented a pitfall into which the first traveler along the road was bound to fall. That individual happened to be Dr. Palmer, who, with a smart team was driving along the thoroughfare, and plunged, team and all, into the trap, a distance of seven feet. A broken buggy and sundry bruises on man and horses were fortunately the only bad results of the fall and smash. The town of Jamesville may congratulate itself that no worse fruits grew out of this gross carelessness.

CHINA THANKS UNCLE SAM

EMPEROR IS GRATEFUL FOR REBATE OF INDEMNITY.

Minister Delivers Message at a Notable Luncheon Given By President at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 28.—President Roosevelt Thursday entertained a luncheon party which consisted of members of his cabinet, members of the diplomatic corps, representatives of the army and navy and distinguished authors.

Sir Chientung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, bore the personal thanks of his emperor for the generosity of the United States in remitting the greater portion of the Chinese indemnity. The minister also said his farewells to the president. He relinquishes his post as minister and will sail for China next Wednesday.

Commander Dahl, of the Norwegian navy, who, on the flagship Haar Fagre, now anchored in New York harbor, is on his way to the Jamestown exposition, was presented to the president by C. Hauge, the Norwegian minister, and both were of the luncheon party. Secretary Metcalf assisted in extending the courtesies to the representatives of the Norwegian navy, who arrived with the secretary on the gunboat Yankton.

Postmaster General Myer, who is returning to Washington from his home in Boston, came to luncheon and remained to discuss post office affairs with the president for some hours before returning on the Yankton.

Capt. Richard Walnwright, of the naval general board, and Col. W. W. Witherspoon, of the army war college, came together from Washington. John J. Boyle, the sculptor, and Ernest Ingersoll, who writes of birds and animals, came from New York.

B. F. Osborn, who styles himself a "sailor of fortune," and adds that he has been afloat half of his 80 years, had an early audience with the president for the purpose of exhibiting a double bulkhead device which he explained would render vessels unsinkable. Mr. Osborn went away bearing the president's approval for an interview with Secretary Metcalf.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt both attended the commencement exercises of the Cove school, from which several of the Roosevelt children have graduated.

SUNDAY NOT A WEEK DAY?

Beggar Alone Spoke English.

People make a great mistake as to the prevalence of English on the continent, says Rev. A. N. Cooper in Chambers' Journal. "In my walk to Rome, a journey of some 900 miles, I only once met a man on the road who could speak English, and he was the only man who begged of me."

YALE'S CREW WINS MAGNIFICENT RACE

DEFEATS HARVARD BY ONLY A SCANT BOAT LENGTH.

E. H. HARRIMAN ARRESTED

Magnate Ignores Course Rules and Is Made Prisoner By President Roosevelt's Naval Aide.

New London, Conn., June 28.—Before the largest crowd that ever witnessed a race on the Thames river the Yale crew Thursday evening, rowing on an average of four strokes to the minute less than Harvard, held the big Cambridge eight even until the last half mile, when the blue let out their speed and won a magnificent contest by a scant boat length.

Not once in the whole four miles did the long, graceful shells cease to lap each other. Thousands of persons aboard the observation trains and on every kind of floating craft and those who lined the shore sent cheer upon cheer to the old rivals as they fought out one of the grandest races in the history of boating. Yale's time for the four miles was 21 minutes and 10 seconds; Harvard's, 21 minutes and 13 seconds.

E. H. Harriman Arrested.

The race was accompanied by one disagreeable incident. This was the arrest of E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, by Lieut. Bulmer, President Roosevelt's naval aide. Lieut. Bulmer, who was in charge of the revenue cutters, had warned every boat owner not to follow the race. The big "varisty" struggle had scarcely been started when Mr. Harriman, in a powerful motor boat, started to follow the race.

Lieut. Bulmer and Chairman Schweppe, who were aboard the regatta committee's boat, the Arrow, repeatedly warned Mr. Harriman to stop his engine and get out of the course. Mr. Harriman not only paid no attention to them, but took a position right alongside of the referee's boat and held it. Off the navy yard Lieut. Bulmer signalled for a launch and tooted the revenue cutter whistle, which finally caused Mr. Harriman to look around.

"You are under arrest, sir," shouted Lieut. Bulmer. "You will give yourself up to this man who will take you aboard the Gresham to await my orders."

Magnate Threatens Schweppe.

Then it was discovered that the man in the powerful and speedy boat was Mr. Harriman. Chairman Schweppe, of the regatta committee, was very angry and he shouted to Mr. Harriman in terms which the latter could not mistake. The millionaire leveled his forefinger at Chairman Schweppe and yelled back:

"Young man I will see you later."

Schweppe's friends aboard the Arrow gave Mr. Harriman a gentle laugh. Mr. Harriman saw no more of the race but was detained as any ordinary prisoner aboard the Gresham until after the race was over, when Lieut. Bulmer went aboard the Gresham and released him, but ordered his boat tied up at the navy yard. The incident may cost Mr. Harriman a fine of $500. This was the penalty imposed on a yacht owner at last year's race for transgressing the rules governing the course.

Race Delayed by Wind.

The race was scheduled to be rowed at half past one o'clock, but at that hour a stiff northwest breeze was blowing which every now and then broke out into little squalls that would have swamped a racing shell. At half past ten o'clock this morning, Referee William A. Melkeham, the old Columbia oar, had been compelled to postpone the freshman eight-oared race and the "varisty" four-oared race because the judges of the two crews, both agreed that the river was too rough for shell racing. The freshman and the four-oared races were finally postponed until Friday.

The big crowd, which never considers the oarsmen, but always wants to see the race, was growing impatient when shortly before six o'clock the breeze gradually died away, and at seven o'clock, when the two eights reached their stake boats just above the big draw bridge, there was scarcely enough wind left to ruffle the hundreds of flags that floated from the finest yachts of the eastern seaboard, which formed an avenue all the way up the river for four miles.

The Blessed Old Maids.

No women have done more for humanity and for the individual than the old-maid reformer and the old-maid aunt. There is none to whom we owe a deeper debt of gratitude, and none whom we could not better spare, says a writer in the Cosmopolitan. For be sure of this: God sends old maids into the world to do the work that the rest of us leave undone.

A SCHEME OF JOHN'S.

Fear of Landlady Greater Than His Love of Sleep.

John was a sleepy-head, so celebrated, indeed, that he had never been known to wake up by what his family called a "natural process." So when he went off to college it was only natural that he should be presented with alarm clocks from two of his numerous aunts.

"One will be enough, dear," said his mother, but John took them both.

He set the alarm of one at the hour of rising and placed it at the head of his bed; the other he set 15 minutes later, and each night placed it at the head of the stairs outside of his landlady's door. Then he wrote home an account of how it worked.

As his alarm went off in the morning his first thought was that the clock on the stairs would make itself heard in 15 minutes. This aroused him so fully that he was able to spring out of bed on the instant.
